Further Particulars of the Andaman Island Disaster.

OVER TWO HUNDRED LIVES LOST

The First Report of the Cyclone Gave but a Slight Account of the Damage Done-In Addition to the Two Hundred Killed Over Two Hundred and Flfty People Were Injured.

LONDON, Nov. 11 .- Further particulars received here this morning from Calcutta show that the cyclone which swept over the Andaman islands (a British convict settlement) in the Bay of Bengal on Monday last, caused a very much larger loss of life than was at first reported, and that the damage done was far in excess of the amount first telegraphed here. In addition to the drowning of nearly all of the crew of her majesty's steamship Enterprise, the government steamship engaged in conveying the convicts to and from the settlement, by which seventy-eight' out of eighty-three men lost their lives, it is now officially announced that the total loss of life is nearly 200, and that about 250 persons in addition were severely wounded.

The first approach of the cyclonic disturbance was denoted by the deadly stillness which settled over the islands, and by the fact that the birds and animals seemed to be trembling with fear, seeking shelter everywhere, and apparently having ontirely lost their dread of man's approach to thom. Then the air became most oppressively hot and banks of dark clouds began to gather on the eastern horizon, while in the distance could be heard the low rumbling of thunder, the clouds now and then being broken by flashes of vivid lightning.

By this time everybody on the islands had come to the conclusion that a severe tropical storm was approaching, but no-body really imagined that a disaster was pending. The fishermen and coast-ing vessels were hurriedly making for shelter, and the erew of the Enterprise began to button down and get ready to et go their spare anchors.

The Andaman islands form a group in the Bay of Bengal, between latitude 10 and 18 degrees north, and nearly under 93 degrees of east longitude, about 180 miles southwest of Cape Nograis, a headland on the coast of British Burmah.

The Great and Little Andaman islands compose the group, and they are sencompose the group, and they are separated by Duncan's passage, where a number of native coasters and fishing boats foundered or were driven ashore during the cyclone of Monday. Point Blair, on Chatham Island, is the headquarters of the convict settlement, the latter being naturally the most important industrial center of the islands. loss of life occurred, and it is believed here that when the final returns come in it will be seen that considerably over 200 and possibly 300 were victims of the cyclone's fury, for the population of Port Blair, or Blair station, is over 13,000 souls. Soon after the thunder rolls and lightning were noticed, rushing sounds were heard in the air, and these increased until a ficrce gale was howling across the islands, whipping the water into foam and bending trees like whips before its breath, but this was nothing to what followed. Suddenly the fury of the storm seemed to be redoubled, and a wild burst of wind bent down, uprooted or cracked in two great numbers of trees, unroofed numbers of buildings, sent planks, small trees, clouds of foliage and even heavy beams whirling through the air, which by this time seemed to be charged with electricity and to be positively thick with oppressive damp heat.

. The convicts who were not in confinement, nearly all of them being East Indians, ran panic-stricken, here and there, seeking places of shelter, or falling prostrate upon the ground, they resigned themselves, helplessly, to their fate, and murmuring prayers, prepared to die. With the convicts in confinement, the situation was much worse. The shriek-ing cyclone, the fearful thunder and lightning and the shouts of command of warning to be heard on all sides, apread such terror among them that they raged like wild beasts in their efforts to free themselves and at least meet death at liberty. Then came the sound of falling bnildings, of crashing roofs and shricks of ageny, as scores of helpless convicts were crushed beneath falling beams and toppling masonry. On all sides was the air filled with yells of agony or despair, and mingling with the fearful sounds of the cyclonic fury, these lamentations caused a scene which happily rarely if ever, has been equaled in that part of the world. To the credit of the guards be it said that they did their utmost to release the confined convicts, but during the swiul every man, woman and child there had all they could do to look after their bwn personal safety. But, right here, clet a most gallant example of woman's pluck and strength be noted and credited to the account of these who are, in eastern countries especially, looked upon as too weak and lowly to be worthy of anything but the right to live and bear children. In the present instance, in tho midst of this terrible disturbance of nature, when the bravest and strongest men quailed with apprehension, it was noticed that a building, standing near noticed that a building, standing near the seashore, had been crushed down and actually hurled into the enri by the fear-ful force of the wind. Some of the con-victs confined in this building succeeded in escaping before it was blown into the water, others were drowned in spite of their efforts to escape, but about nine or ten of these convicts succeeded in clamboring apon the roof of their cyclone-crushed quarters and they londly appealed for help.

The guards and others, however, were tee much occupied with other matters toe much occupied with other matters to be able to be of any service to the imperilled men. In this emergency, a gang of female convicts displayed great bravery. Undannted by the shricking cyclone, and listening only to the frantic appeals for help uttered by the men in danger, they boldly joined hands together in a long line, a human rope, the holdest of the women at the end facing boldest of the women at the end facing the water, and in this manner the female convicts slowly but steadily ventured into the raging surf beating upon the shore, and though those at the ex-tremity of the line were frequently swept off their feet and were almost half drowned by the rushing waters, they finally succeeded in rescuing six native convicts who would otherwise have perished, for their companions had been swept away and drowned.

This is only an instance of the conrage displayed upon this occasion by the female convicts of the Andaman islands on all sides they won the highest praise by ministering to the dying and nursing the wounded. While the men seemed cowed with terror, the women, as a rule, displayed the most remarkable courage. So much so that it is understood that the governor general of the penal station will recommend that a number of them will be pardoned, and that the sentences of a large number of others be commuted to short terms of imprisomnent.

While this was going on ashore, at sea, off the coast, matters were nearly as bad. Every small craft, without apparently a single exception, caught a sea by the cyclone, was either swamped after a short struggle with the storm, or swept ashore, and then dashed to pieces amid the surf. A number of natives not included in the present estimate, lost their lives in this manner.

The crew of her majesty's ship Enter prise, fared no better than the natives in spite of their utmost endeavors, the steamer, dragging anchors, was forced ashore and soon after she began pound ing upon the rocks. She broke np so quickly that but three or four out of her crew of ninety, were saved.

Of conrse, as in all similar events, it is difficult, almost impossible, to obtain full facts and figures as to the total loss of life and exact amount of damage done, but enough is already known now to enable the statement to be made that the loss of life will certainly be between 200 and 250, and that there are from 250 to 300 people seriously injured. The damage done to crops and other property throughout north Andamun island, middle Andaman island and south Andaman man island, comprising the Great Andamans and over the Little Andamans, inmans and over the Little Andamans, including Interview island, Outram island, Henry Lawrence island and Rutland island, is judged to be very heavy, for it is admitted that all the crops not in thoroughly sheltered places have been completely destroyed, and that the number of buildings damaged or destroyed is very great.

So far as known here the convict pepare officially designated, is about 14,000, of which number some 3,000 hold tickets as "self-supporters," which enables them to engage in trades or occupations about the islands by receiving the necessary permission from the governor. The latter to control this large number of convicts has a police force, native and British, of about 700 men. The aboriginal population compared with the number of convicts at the same place is very small. The totals, however, vary according to the different sources of information; some reports give the Islands a population of only 2,000 natives, while others place it at 10,000. In any case the aboriginal population is composed of people of low type and of diminutive

Of the 20,000 acres of ground cleared by the convicts, and upon which they depend for sustenance, the main part is said to have been rendered practically useless by the cyclonic visitation, and this, it is said, will result in much additional expense and annoyance to the Indian government. As many of the convicts' storehouses are in ruins and a vast amount of stores have been destroye 1, the question of hastening supplies to the stormswept convict settlement is one which is giving considerable trouble to the Indian government. Relief steamers will have to be promptly dispatched to

Owing to the heat in the Andaman islands the bodies of the victims are already being interred, and the scenes witnessed at these wholesale burials are described as terrible.

TENNESSEE, MINERS' TROUBLES. Critical State of Affairs, and United States

Troops May Be Called On. NASHVILLE. Nov. 11.-Matters be tween the rebellions miners and the state of Tennessee are in almost a standstill, the governor asserting: that he will rebuild the stockades and the miners daring him to do it. Governor Buchan-an realizes the responsibility and is much alarmed at the aspect affairs have taken. He has been in communication with the secretary of war for some days past, and has asked aid of the United States if the worst comes. The general opinion in the south is that a serious fight cannot be averted.

Governor Buchanan is said to fear his handful of troops will not be able to withstand the 6,000 miners of east Tennessee, who would be reinforced by 20, 000 others from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Alabama and Virginia, and would wipe out the available militia at his command, and then over-ride the whole state in reckless outlawry.

FIGHTING IN BRAZIL.

First Rumors of War Have Since Been Confirmed.

THE REBELLION A SERIOUS ONE.

The Province of Pernambuco Johns That of Rlo Grande do Sul and Declares Itself Independent of the Government as Now Constituted-Serious Loss, ol Life Reported, but Particulars Are Unobtainable on Account of Telegraph Wires Being Cut. LONDON, Nov. 11.-On account of the strict guard kept by the Brazilian government over the telegraph and cable lines it is almost impossible to obtain reliable news as to the exact state of the country. It is now generally admitted. however, that there is no room for further doubt that the province of Rio Grande do Sul has declared its independence, and as it is reported that this independent territory includes about 50,000 fighting Germans among its population, the revolution there is undoubtedly serious.

The report that reached here that there had been fighting in the province of Rio Grande do Sul has since been confirmed. The trouble referred to is said to have its center at Port Alegre, the capital of Rio Grande do Sul, but the telegraph wires leading from the supposed scene of the fighting having been cut, somo time must elapse before definite news gets even so far as Rio

Merchants and others in the city in-terested in the finances of trade of Brazil are doing their utmost to obtain some kind of information from their agents in Brazil, but their efforts do not seem to be meeting with much success. Late yesterday afternoon, however, the announcement was made that at least another province in Pernambuco hr revolted against the dictation of Marsha. Da Fonseca, and had declared itself independent of the government as now constituted. By the same source it became known that at least two other provinces were on the verge of declaring their independence, and rumor also had it that the restoration party held sway in one of the revolted provinces. This report. which comes from Bahia, may have its origin in imperialist circles, but, be that how it may, the situation of affairs would seem to indicate a long ar bloody civil war in the near future, th. overthrow of Da Fonseca's dictatorship and the establishment in Brazil of number of republics somewhat similar to those of South Africa.

A later dispatch says there is no longer any attempt to deny that the province of Parnambuco has joined the province of F o Grande de Sul in declaring its independence. Great excitement prevails at Rio do Janeiro and Brazil. It is reported here that Marshal Da Fonsaca has been informed that he is suffering from a disease which must soon cause his death, and that he has announced his willingness to resign the reins of power.

The German population of Rio Grande do Sul is reported to be organizing into armed bodies of men on the plan of the Dutch settlers of South Africa, and to be determined to defend the independence of their new state.

The troops under the command of Marshal Da Fonseca are said to have been ordered to move upon Rio Grande do Sul. This report, however, is not be-lieved here, as it is understood that the dictator has been warned by his most trusted admirers to do every thing possible to avoid bloodshed.

A still later rumor has it that there has been a conflict with serious loss of life, between the supporters of the government and the colonists who have just declared their independence.

PLEDGED TO KILL HIMSELF.

The Seventeenth Member of the Snielde Club Keeps His Word.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 11.-John Kopp, a German lately employed as a cabinet maker, hanged himself Monday night to a rafter in the cellar of his home. He was one of the last members of the famous suicide club of this city, and it was time for another member to die. He had been a member of the club from its beginning, and had officiated at the funeral of nearly all the members and often said that his turn would come in a short time. There are only two other members of the club now living. Every member who joined when the club was first projected has died by vio lence and his own hand. Kopp is the seventeenth man of the club who has killed himself. The two remaining members are expected to do their duty.

Anna Dickinson a Wreck New York, Nov. 11.—Miss. Anna Dickinson has been in town for a few days. She passed the time very quietly at the Sturtevant House and denied herself to callers. She is sadly broken i health and her mental trouble is not im proving. There is but little in the unhappy and haggard guest of the Sturtevant to suggest the brilliant minded and forceful woman Anna Dickinson was twenty years ago. Miss Dickinson left Snnday for her home in Ponnsylvania. She will probably never again appear in public.

Traded Stolen Horses. Ironton, O., Nov. 11.-Henry McGee

hired two horses of John McGormick, of Gallipolis. He went to Jackson and traded the animals to Tom Delay for ene horse and buggy, and got $10 to boot. He took that horse to Waterle 3 and traded his horse and buggy for a horse and addle, to a man by the name of Queen, at I then went to Portsmouth and sold the animal and skipped. He is from Proctorville, and well known "I AM GUILTY."

The Startling Confession of a Prominent

Physician and Politician. RACINE. Wis., Nov. 11.—The people of southern Wisconsin were shocked on the morning of Ang. 10 to read that Dr. Charles N. Palmer, one of the most prominent and respected physicians in this section of the country, had been ar-rested charged with robbing the store and postoffice at the quiet little village of Raymond Center.

His many friends were loth to place any credence in the story of the man's crimes, and have believed all along that the doctor would prove his innocence when the proper time care. Those same friends will be more than shocked to learn that when brought up before the circuit court Monday and Judge Fish asked what he had to say as to the charge preferred, the doctor, with bowed head, said: "I am guilty, your honor," and then sank back in his chair and wept like a child.

The attorney of the doctor asked that sentence be deferred until he could introduce some testimony in regard to the man's habits and the condition of hinrind, the ciaim being made that he was addicted to the opium habit, and was a physical wreck and not responsible for his actions and particularly for the crime he had committed. Sentence was deferred. The penalty for the crime is from one to five years in the peniten-

The life of Dr. Palmer up to the time he committed the crime was an honorable one. He was a prominent politician, was an elector on the Republican presidential ticket in 1888, member of medical board of pension examiners, and a central figure of all conventions. He is a son of N. Pulsations Down as Low as Thirty a Minute.

Moore's Hill, Ind., Nov. 11.—The very strange story of Mr. James Stevens and his wonderful pulse of thirty-two a min-ute, recently published, has called to notice two other cases that are scarcely less remarkable. One of these is the heart failure of the late W. H. Baker, of Manchester. His heart-beat for the eighteen months preceding his death was only

Mr. Zephaniah Heustis, of the same village, is another man found to have a handicapped heart. Still Lower.

NEW CONCORD, O., Nov. 11.—Mr. William A. Moore, of this place, has been subject to heart trouble for the past thirteen years, caused by a sunstroke. In the summer of 1878, Mr. Moore's pulse beat only twenty-four to twenty-six pulsations to the minute for two months, and has been beating only from thirty-eight to forty-five times per minute ever since. At the time it was at its lowest, Mr. Moore was a farmer, but had to give up farm work. Since then he has been in the mercantile business.

Robbery and Murder. OTTAWA, O., Nov. 11.-Frand Van

Loon, the second man arrested for the Columbus Grove bank robbery and mnrder of farmer Vandemark, was indicted by the Putnam county grand jury for murder in the first dearee. The grand jury worked on this case for two weeks and yesterday at 1:30 they reported him guilty.

Part of the testimony was that a pistol was found at Van Loon's home that corresponded with the number that Crawford, the hardware man, sold to the robber. It is alleged his wife also testified that after he came home he locked the doors and told her all about the crime he had committed.

Roberts, the first man arrested, was turned loose; he is now in consultation with his attorney in order to bring suit for damages. The general opinica among our people is that Van Loon will never hang for this crime.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1891.

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S friends don't want to overlook the fact that the anti-Harrison Republicans of Indiana have actually started a paper in that State' to oppose his re-election.

It's only a question of a few years when will come very near taking its place.

WITH Crisp, Mills, Breckinridge, Mc-Millin, Springer, Hatch and others to choose from, the Democrats oughtn't have much trouble in getting a good man for Speaker of the House of the next Congress.

"BIRDS of a feather flock to-gether," is an old saying. Quay, one of the most corrupt and unprincipled politicians that Pennsylvania or any other State has ever produced, seems to be managing Blaine's Presidential boom.

COLONEL J. N. HUSTON, an Indiana Republican, late Treasurer of the United shows an increase of $2,600 over the States, expressed the opinion recently that the Democrats will be "in it" when it comes to electing the next President. The late elections point that way also.

A Louisville lumber merchant who failed the other day has dragged down about half a dozen other firms in the same business to financial ruin. The latest was C. B. Paul, who failed yesterday for $200,000. There must be something wrong in the way business is conducted nowadays.

THE BULLETIN'S Aberdeen correspondent, in speaking yesterday of the late election in Ohio, said the Republican vicis but little doubt that "a combination of 32 cars. Cincinnatians" did do a good deal to bring about Campbell's defeat.

The faithful Democrats of the club are justly indignant at such doings, and have taken steps to fire the traitors from the organization.

THE Chicago Press advocates a change, and wants the President, Vice President and Senators elected by a direct vote of the people. The present plan, the Press says, is "in contravention to the majority | 1890. rule and repugnant to the spirit of our institutions." Harrison lacked nearly 100,000 of having a majority of the popular vote, and Hayes was also a minority President. The Press is right. Let's have a change. The majority must rule.

Miss Margaret Reid Kackley, the talented vocalist, arrived from Europe a few days since, and is now at Indianapolis. The Indianapolis News says:

"Mise Reid's trip to this country is purely for the purpose of visiting her family whom she has not seen since the May Festival two years ago. It was not her intention to sing here, but when she arrived in New York she found letters awaiting her from the committee of the Flower Mission asking her to appear on the opening night. Her love for and Interest in her old home overcame all resolutions to the contrary and she answered in the affirmative. While in New York she was the guest of Miss Butler, granddaughter of Justlee Bradley, of the Supreme

"Miss Reld expects to return to Paris lu December. It is not her luiention to make a public appearance in this country at present, other than at the Flower Mission entertaiument. Had she slight increase over last year's returns, desired, she could have sang at the Seldi Orehes tra concerts given at Madison Square Garden New York. She sings here because it is her home, and like all true Americans, she is loyal Of the total decrease of 101, 59 are to the place of her nativity. There is much inwhite and 42 colored. The complete re- terest manifested in musical circles by Miss turns of this year's registration are as Reld's visit to America. Mr. Rubens, of New York, the manager of Mme. Albaul lu this coun' try, will come from New York to be present at Miss Reld's appearance here.

"Her correct name, and the one by which she is known by her early associates, is Susan Margaret Kackiey. When she first inlimated to Mme. Leonard her intention of going on the slage, that lady impressed upon her the neces sity of changing her surname, claming that 'Kackiey' in either the 'French' of 'German' languages was harsh and would not meel with favor. The young singer was averse to the change and still elung to her German-English coguomen. One day she read a portion of a let

"'Thomas Reid Kackiey,' was the reply.' "'Good. I have lt,' was the enthusiastic re sponse, and, raising her hund in a dramatic manner, Mme. Leonard exciaimed, 'I here christen you Margaret Reid.' And from that day the young singer has been known to the musical profession under that appellation. Miss Reld's advantages in Europe have been of the best. Her instructor, Mme. Leonard, was an orphan at an early age and was adopted into the family of her cousin, Emannel Garcia, and was brought up with Malibran and l'anime Viodol, both famous artists.

'Mlss Reid possesses a lyrle soprano voice, or what the French call an Italian soprano. She is and a earrying quality that makes it distinctly heard throughout the largest auditorluus. Her voice is now thoroughly posed, under Mme. Leonard, and her sludies with that famous teacher are about completed. She has yet to add a few operas to her already extended repertoire before she emerges as a full-fledged prima donna. She has the choice of several good engagements In Enrope. The best offer is from St. Petersburg, which is a rich field for aspiring artists. Miss

Miss Kackley will visit relatives in this city before she returns to Europe, and it is hoped she will consent to appear in concert while here. She was born at Germantown, and Maysville and Mason County people would be glad of an opportunity to hear her.

SEVERAL colored people were fined from $50 to $100 each at Danville Monday for violating the local option law of that city. Two of them were sons of a colored min-

The largest pair of "slippers" ever seen In Maysville were on exhibition this morning at Owens, Mitchell & Co.'s hardware establishment. They are nineteen inches long and eight and a half wide. Mr. H. D. Watson, of Shannon, ordered them as a bridal present for one of his bachelor friends who gets married at Mayslick this afternoon.

MR. CLARENCE L. SALLEE and Miss Lulu Mitchell will be married at the Christian Church Wednesday, November 25th, at 3:30 p. m. No cards. The couple will be glad to have all their friends present. The groom-to-be is one of the brightest members of the Mason County Bar, while she whom he has chosen for a life companion is one of Maysville's most charming young ladies.

the Brotherhood of Boilermakers as follows: T. V. Powderly, General Master Work

DEAR SIE-On behalf of the National

Brotherhood of Boilermakers of the United States, I extend to you and through you the noble order you have the honor to represent, hearty congratulations for the excellent auspices under which you are now assembled. Trusting that your order in the future will develop much of benefit for the wel fare and amelioration of the oppressed, in whose interests your society is justly celebrated for its earnest efforts put forth in behalf thereof, and of those who have learned to love its principles because charity and justice unto all is guaranteed in every measure advocated. JERRY MCCARTHY,

Grand President. During the afternnon the report of the credentials committee was discussed. Tuesday night a reception was tendered to Mr. Powderly and the visitors, at which Mr. Emmick presided.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT.

The Rebinson Brothers, Circus Men, Clalm $100,000.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 11.—A damage snit for a large amount, filed in Newport, Tuesday, will prove of wide interest. William Fitzgerald, a resident of Newport, brings the action against his brother, Rev. John Fitzgerald, whose present home is at Norfolk, Va., and the damages claimed are $100,000.

John Fitzgerald was the inventor of plaster used for houses, but he was without means to put his patent on the market, and the petition alleges that in consideration of $12,000 advanced by William Fitzgerald he was to have a half interest. James and John Robinson, the circus men, loaned the above amount to William Fitzgerald for a certain interest they were to have in the

This was in 1888. These parties allege that the patent plaster has proved a great success; that half a dozen factories in as many cities are engaged in manufacturing the stuff, but they never have received any benefit. The First National bank at Newport is made a party to tl. suit, and $25,000 supposed to be deposited in this bank by the company was at-

MINERS' STRIKE UNBROKEN.

Not a Shaft in Operation in the Indiana District.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 11.-Advices from various points show that the striking coal miners are presenting an unbroken front, and if there is a shaft in active work throughout the district it has escaped the attention of the state officers. Yesterday there was a mass meeting at Clay City, which was addressed by President Commiskey and which resulted in the miners resolving to stand by the strikers.

The state officers report that several block operators, as well as an equal number of bituminous operators, have expressed a willingness to concede the advance, and President Commiskey is credited with saying that all that prevents work being resumed is the universal agreement, by which none of the strikers can accept re-employment if the whole number is not provided for. Several of the operators have taken advantage of the strike to cancel contracts.

Hereditary Heart Trouble.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Nov. 11.—Mrs. George Dahn, about sixty years of age, died this morning, suddenly, of heart trouble. Six months ago her sister, Mrs. John Werner, two years younger, died of the same trouble. Thirteen years ago John Wolf, a brother, was suddenly seized with heart trouble, and died three hours later. Their father was found dead in his bed here, thirtyfive years ago after retiring well and hearty at night, and previous to this their mother had died suddenly of heart trouble in Germany. About three months ago John Werner, the husband of Mrs. Werner, died suddenly in this city of the same trouble. Mr. Wolf, Mr. Werner and Mr. Dahn (who servives his wife) were all three butchers.

MURDERER HANGED.

Henry Curtis Pays the Death Penalty on the Scaffold.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 11.—Henry Curtis, celored, who killed an old man named Waller, near Tanners Creek, on Sept. 5, 1889, suffered the extreme penalty for his crime in the Portsmouth jail yesterterday. The drop fell shortly before 1 e'clock in the afternoon, and in eight minutes Curtis was dead. His neck was broken by the fall.

The murder for which Curtis was hanged was a most cowardly and brutal one. He awakened Waller, who kept a store on a lonely road, about midnight on the date of the crime, and when the old man appeared he said he wanted some quinine for a sick person. As soon as Waller's back was turned he struck him a fearful blow on the head, rendering the old man senseless.

While Waller was in that condition the brutal negro wrapt the body in an old blanket, saturated it with oil and set fire to it. The body was burned to a crisp. Curtis was arrested shortly after his diabolical crime. The indignation of the citizens against him was so great that a lynching party was formed. The that a lynching party was formed. military, however, was called out and thwarted the purposes of the citizens.

Runaway Horse Demolishes a Saloon. Indianapolis, Nov. 11.—Dr. Taylor's horse became frightened and ran away on Michigan street yesterday. At the corner of Noble street he dashed into Henry Miller's saloon, breaking a plate glass window and doors to flinders. Once inside he began kicking and plunging, and the bar was soon smashed into kinkling wood, the decanters thrown from the shelves to the floor and broken and the plate glass mirror demolished. Three men in the saloon crouched down in one corner and thus escaped injury. The saloon was a complete wreck, but the horse sustained no injury except by cuts from broken glass.

Devil's Backbone on Fire.

HANOVER, Ind., Nov. 11.—The dense woods and b ush on what is known as the Devil's Backbone, a wild and primitive track lying between this village and Madison, has been burning fiercely since Wednesday last, presenting an inspiring scene, especially at night time. The place is great resort for sportsmen and it is thought the fire was started accident-ally by hunters. The Devil's Backbone is covered with magnificent timber, many acres of which have thus far been destroyed. It is surrounded mostly by plowed ground, and there is little apprehension of damage to property in that vicinity.
